Ing the progress of the semi-annual conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

The attendance upon the seventy-fourth conference is so great that it was found to be impossible yesterday afternoon for the followers of Joseph Smith present to gain admittance to the tabernacle or assembly hall. This necessitated an over-flow open air meeting upon the temple grounds.

The tabernacle and assembly hall were crowded almost to suffocation, chairs being used in every available space in both edifices, while scores of men and women stood in the aisles and formed a human fringe around the formed a human fringe around the walls of both buildings. Both Edifices Uncomfortably Filled.

At the tabernacle several hundred At the tapernacie several nunreal people, who did not attend the open air meeting or the session in assembly hall, crowded around the entrances to hear the organ, the choir, and listen to the words of wisdom from President Joseph F. Smith and the other high dignitaries of the church, who spoke during the afternoon meeting. They were crowded in so closely that it was almost impos-Fible for people who were taken sick during the meeting to force their way out of the building into the cool air of the well parked grounds.

The same congested condition existed at the assembly hall. The aisles were crowded with chairs and many Saints preferred to endure the fatigue from standing or the other properties.

shippers that the attendance upon the seventy-fourth semi-annual conference will go down in Mormon church history as the greatest since President Brigham Young and his handful of pioneers braved the perils of the far, far west, blazed the trail to Utah and established their Zion, which is now known to the civilized world as Salt Lake City.

From a political point of view the sessions yesterday of the conference were void of general interest. Those were void of general interest. Those who addressed the various congregations utterly ignored the political phase of the church and state, paying undivided attention to the spiritual welfare of the pligrims who had come from all parts of the country.

President Joseph F. Smith and Apostle Heber J. Grant. the recently returned missionary to Japan, were the only speakers at the morning session of the conference, which was held in the tabernacle. There were the customary songs and anthems by the choir and a duet by Wood and Noal Pratt, grandsons of Parley P. Pratt. They sang a favorite selection of their grandfather, which had been put to music by Evan Stephens, entitled "The Morning Breaks, the Shadows Flee."

A general plea to all Saints to get out of debt and a glowing description of the flourishing condition of the church, were the themes of the address by President Smith. He also touched upon the advantages of manual training in the school and at home, advancing the theory that healthful bodies are conducive to healthful minds, and that the latter make good Mormons. He advocated the cultivation of all ard which tend to uplifth men and women and advance the chircal side of life.

BOOMING THE FAIR.-H. Meinhard BOOMING THE FAIR.—H. Meinhard of St. Louis, representing a large wholesale establishment that requires him to visit nearly every state in the Union at least once a year, is making a short business stay in Salt Lake. Mr. Meinhard is enthusiastic over the prospects for the exposition at St. Louis next year. He states that the attendance will surely be large from all parts of the country and he predicts that the display will be satisfactory in every respect. The enterprise, he states, has been peculiarly fortunate in securing for its managers the most able business men of the country. The departments are working together in perfect harmony, he says, and every feature that has been advertised will be produced in completeness.

Amusements.

The first of the Sunday night band concerts at the Grand drew a larger audifence than the house has held for many nights. The programme was one of the best possible to select and with one exception was unfortunately, the one plece chosen from a local composer. Mrs. Martha Royle King. The plece is called "Contentment" and is a little gem. which might well have been one of the best but for the fact that the hand showed insufficient practice on the composition. The other number by Mrs. King, "A Colored Swagger Swell," a bright piece with a catchy chorus, the band was obliged to omit because of the same thing—lack of preparation. Mrs. King was the vocalist of the evening, giving Andrew Boex's "Oh. Speak to Me," for which she was warmly applanded. The selection embodying the airs from "The Prince of Pilsen" was undoubtedly the favorite of the evening, but the new march by Sousa, "Jack Tar," was fine.

VERNAL NEWS NOTES.

Vernal, Sept. 20.—Repeated experiments have demonstrated the fact that this county is well adapted to the raising of sugar beets, and the coming of the Motfat railroad will, without question, mean that a factory will be one of the most attractive investments for capital seeking paying enterprises, That it would pay dividends from the start is without question, as a look at the beet patches where they have been tried will convince anyone.

Ever hear of Thompson's Colt?

It swam a clear, cool stream to drink from a stagnant, muddy pond.

A Utah Milliner paid 50 cents a yard more for materials in Kansas City than she could have bought them of us for.

The colt was foolish.

The milliner "didn't know" there was such a place as ours in Salt Lake City.

We represent three of the largest millinery concerns in New York.

By combining wholesale and retail Exclusive Millinery, we are enabled to carry greater variety and sell cheaper than if the business was curtailed.

Our retail is not crippled when people don't patronize our wholesale lines.
